

Hotel Guest Captures Gunman, Other Flees; Bus Drivers Get Raise, Strike Is Canceled

Settlement Reached Last Night

Operators Will Receive
$55.08 as Take-Home
Pay as Result of
17-Cent Boost

54 Hour Week

Stoppage Was Slated to Occur Today in Early Morning

The city buses were operating at normal today with the threat of a strike removed by an agreement reached last night between officials of the Kingston City Transportation Corporation, operators of the lines, and the bus drivers.

The prolonged contract negotiations between management and the union ended at 9:30 p. m. with an agreement that grants the bus drivers a 17 cents an hour wage increase and raises the weekly take-home pay to $55.08. The new scale represents a 20 per cent increase.

Retrospective to Jan. 1
The wage boost is retrospective to January 1. Working conditions remain the same as under the old contract, with the drivers working 54 hours a week.

Representing the Kingston City Transportation Corp. at yesterday's negotiations were Thomas J. Gadd, general manager; Henry C. Page, treasurer; Henry W. Hallock, of New York, the company's attorney; and Ralph Post.

The union was represented by James J. Gormley, of New York, an international vice president; Charles E. Murphy, president of Local 1350; and Henry P. Eighmey, business agent.

C. W. Davis, of Albany, representing the State Mediation Service, said the negotiations got under way at 1 o'clock, with Mr. Davis presiding and continued until 5 o'clock when a recess was taken for dinner. The discussions were resumed at 6 o'clock and continued until 9:30 when the agreement was signed.

The bus drivers, who had originally planned to meet at 5:30 this morning, held a special meeting at 12:30 a. m. after the day's runs had been completed and voted unanimous approval of the proposed contract.

Wanted $1.25
Negotiations between the drivers and the company had become deadlocked when the union sought an hourly wage rate of $1.25, while the company said that it would grant nothing higher than a rate of 95 cents an hour. The State Mediation Service was brought in by both sides when it became apparent that the deadlock could not be broken locally.

Following the meeting, Thomas J. Gadd, general manager of the Kingston City Transportation Corporation, and Charles E. Murphy, president of Local 1350, arranged a meeting of the State Mediation Service was brought in by both sides when it became apparent that the deadlock could not be broken locally.

Two Statements
"The management of the Kingston City Transportation Corporation and Local 1350 of the A. A. of S. E. R. M. C. E. of A. reached an agreement last night bringing to a close negotiations for a new contract."

"The new agreement represents a 20 per cent increase in wages for all employees of the company, and represents a 17 cents an hour increase for operators, bringing their wages to $1.02 per hour, and a $9.18 weekly increase for a total of $55.08 take-home pay."

Cooperation to Last
"The union expresses its satisfaction with the agreement and will continue its cooperation with management as it has in the past. At the meeting of the union held early this morning, the membership voted unanimously to accept the agreement."

"The management of the Kingston City Transportation Corporation is pleased with the settlement of the agreement and is looking forward to continued good labor relations with our employees and a continuation of the service rendered to the local public in the past."

Bridges Moves to Put Republicans On Budget Record

Knutson Says Bitter Scrap
May Make It Hard to Date Cut Back to January

By JACK HELL
Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—Senator Bridges (N. H.), moved today to put his Republican Senate colleagues squarely on the record on how deep President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget shall be cut.

At the same time, Rep. Knutson (R., Minn.), said the bitter budget scrap may make it hard to date any income tax reduction back to January 1.

Bridges, who wants $6,000,000,000 lopped off Mr. Truman's spending estimates, told a reporter before G. O. P. members convened for a party conference (2:30 p. m.) that he is demanding a record vote on his proposal and suggesting that the result be made public.

"I think the public is entitled to know who wants to cut this budget and how far they want to go," the New Hampshire senator said. "A lot of people have been talking about economy, but when the joint Senate-House committee decides on a cut, some of them want to back up."

Republican leaders gave every appearance of being unwilling to go as far as Bridges, who heads the Senate Appropriations Committee. Chairman Millikin (Col.), of the Senate conference already has proposed a $4,500,000,000 substitute that would leave untouched most of the $11,200,000,000 Mr. Truman asked for the Army and Navy.

Chairman Taft (Ohio), of the G. O. P. Policy Committee has said he will support the lower cut suggested by Millikin. Taft told a reporter he actually would prefer a $5,000,000,000 figure, which has been mentioned as a possible compromise if the House votes the full $6,000,000,000 and the Senate cuts it to $4,500,000,000.

House Republicans will meet in a conference tomorrow to determine their stand.

Whatever happens, Senator Knutson said.

Van Gonsic, Tenants Deny Renovation Plans

Current unofficial reports of proposed elaborate plans for expansion of facilities in the building now occupied by the Adirondack Trailways and several manufacturing plants were without foundation in official places, The Freeman learned today.

The reports concerned plans for future expansion of the bus terminal and complete occupancy of the building by the bus line. This report was denied by Lawrence Van Gonsic, manager of the local terminal, and operators of the factories, who said they hold long-term leases.

Judge Watkins Indicates He Will Name Third Physician to Examine Forman; Trial Is Continued

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—Joseph Forman, Democratic chairman of Ulster county, and a defendant in a black-market sugar trial in Federal Court, is confined to his quarters in the Hotel Sulgrave, 60 East 67th street, with pneumonia, his counsel, Joseph Leary Delaney, announced today as the trial resumed before Judge Harry E. Watkins.

Also accused of black-market deals involving more than 1,000,000 pounds of sugar and co-defendants are William Stanton, of Kingston, N. Y., an investigator in an Albany O. P. A. office from 1942 to 1944, the Pure Rock Mineral Springs Corporation of Ellenville, N. Y., and its president, Harold Gottfried, 4671 Fieldston Road, Riverdale.

Judge Watkins, after discussing Forman's illness with Delaney and Frederick K. Block, an assistant U. S. attorney, ordered the trial to proceed and directed that no reference be made to Forman's absence in the presence of the jury.

Delaney reported that on Sunday Forman's physician had indicated that the defendant, a former corporation counselor in Kingston, might be confined to his quarters for "two days or two weeks."

Judge Watkins indicated that he would name a third physician to examine Forman in addition to the defendant's own doctor and a government doctor.

Delaney consented to have the trial proceed after Block had noted that the government would produce only three additional witnesses, none of them being on Forman's alleged participation in the black-market deals, as described in the indictment. The government attorney added that he expected to rest his case tomorrow.

Delaney told the court that Forman had been afflicted with pneumonia on three previous occasions in the past four years and that he came to court a week ago suffering "from what I thought was a heavy cold."

Ernest E. Felag, of the Division of Special Investigation of the O. P. A., with offices in the Empire State Building, testified that he had been chief investigator in the Albany O. P. A. office in March, 1945, he assigned Stanton to investigate a complaint concerning the Pure Rock Mineral Springs Corporation of Ellenville. A copy of Stanton's report was identified by the witness.

Gottfried and the Pure Rock Mineral Springs Corporation are accused of making false statements to the O. P. A. in 1942. Stanton and Forman are accused of conspiring to prevent an investigation by the O. P. A. of the sugar used by the Ellenville corporation. Gottfried, according to the prosecutor, gave Forman $1,450 and Forman gave Stanton $200 to make a false investigation of the Pure Rock Company.

The committee report said that a mutual agreement was reached between the Dodgers and the board of education whereby neither would interfere with the other in the use of the stadium.

The report stated that chief objection to granting exclusive control of the field to the Dodgers had come from the Board of Education, but made no mention of a resolution submitted to the council by the Kingston Athletic Association which has a membership of more than 800 and which opposed the Class D franchise on the grounds that it did not provide sufficient latitude for the development of local baseball talent.

Members of the committee said they felt the type of baseball contemplated by the Class D club will be of material benefit to the City of Kingston and the sports fans.

As additional support for his recommendation, the committee members said it was their opinion hours to prepare the ball field for its use.

Economic Strikers Can Be Replaced With No Violation

NLRB Rules Employers
Can Fill Jobs When Unions Fail to Negotiate

By HAROLD WARD
Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board posted fresh notice to unions—and to Congress—today that workers who strike over wages and job conditions can be replaced without violating the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

The board went even further in its decision involving two St. Petersburg, Fla., newspapers and declared that when a union itself doesn't bargain it can't charge the employer with failing to negotiate in good faith and hope to make the charge stick. Under the Wagner Act only the employer can be penalized for refusing to bargain with his workers.

Declaration of Policy
Last night's ruling—laying down what the board called "dicta" or a declaration of policy on the bargaining issue—came as both Senate and House Labor Committees are studying proposed amendments designed to meet criticism that the Wagner Act is one-sided in favor of unions, the board administrators said.

The decision that "economic strikers"—those who walk out over wages or working conditions—can be replaced legally is a reversal of previous N. L. R. B. policy. But a board spokesman told reporters that the agency is "hitting it hard" in this instance.

Could Hire New Miners
Carried to its ultimate meaning, the decision affecting economic strikers would countenance the hiring of 400,000 new miners to replace John L. Lewis' soft coal diggers if they struck again only for higher pay or better working conditions. If they walk out because of an unfair labor practice by the operators, however, they could not be replaced.

As a practical matter, the first possibility scarcely could occur since it would not be profitable to replace such a large number of trained workers. Also the operators would be aware of the serious consequences that might result—possibly bloody union warfare.

Papers Within Rights
In the St. Petersburg case the board said the employers—The Times Publishing Company, Evening Independent, Inc., and News Printing, Inc.—were within their rights in replacing more than 60 striking members of the A. F. L. International typographical union.

Moreover, the board said, Editor and Vice President Nelson Poynter of the St. Petersburg Times was not violating the Wagner Act when he informed the strikers at a meeting January 12, 1946, that he would take them back to work first before hiring replacements.

"The union had terminated the earlier bargaining negotiations and had not requested their renewal," the board said. "Nevertheless the respondents (companies) who all along had demonstrated a desire to do business with the union did not notify the union of this intention in order again to make the jobs available to the strikers, should the union elect to terminate the strike before any replacements were hired."

The St. Petersburg printers have been on strike since November 20, 1945, demanding higher wages. The papers continued to publish.

Wicks Sees No Excuse for Levying New Taxes on People

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 18 (AP)—Rejecting all pleas for additional state aid, the Republican-dominated Senate geared itself for rapid passage today of Governor Dewey's record $671,439,557 budget, which Democrats charged was "inflated with at least $51,000,000 in hidden funds."

The Assembly will act on the budget tomorrow.

R. S. Chesterman Stops
Armed Youth Trying to Escape Police

An alert steel-nerved insurance adjuster, who is a resident guest at the Governor Clinton Hotel, nipped the criminal career of a 17-year old youth in its infancy at gunpoint last night in the rear of the hotel, and a second youth involved in a stickup escaped and is the object of a police manhunt covering several states.

The hero of the melodramatic manhunt which had touches of a Hollywood scenario is Robert S. Chesterman, 33, who cornered John Bruce McWhinnie, 17, of 221 North Second street, Mechanicville, in the parking lot behind the hotel, and delivered him at gunpoint to Officers James Burns and Earl Schoonmaker about 7:30 last night.

Held Without Bail
McWhinnie, waived examination and was ordered held without bail for the grand jury when arraigned before Judge Matthew Cahill on a charge of first degree robbery in city court this morning. He was remanded to the county jail.

McWhinnie's companion, Roland Ladd, said to be 16 years, about 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighing about 135 pounds, escaped the police dragnet after firing a shot at rookie Patrolman Carl Janasiewicz. He is charged with felonious assault for shooting at a policeman.

Police say Ladd, a former inmate at Industry, N. Y., may be headed for the New England area. His father resides in Brewer Junction, Maine. The sheriff there told local police today that young Ladd had not been seen there for several months.

Hid in Aged Woman's Room
McWhinnie, who told police he had no previous criminal record, made a daring attempt to escape from the Governor Clinton hotel where he had sought refuge in the room of Mrs. Elizabeth Chichester for a half hour while police swarmed around the building.

McWhinnie, after holding Mrs. Chichester at bay with a gun, snatched her pocketbook, tucked it in his belt and demanded Mrs. Chichester's coat and hat. He then attempted to escape from a rear fire escape but Chesterman who was searching in the area heard him and confronted him as he came down the escape, the police say.

According to the police, Chesterman said he heard a window open by the fire escape and a person looked out and then ducked back out of sight. He thought it was an officer assisting in the man hunt and he continued to check cars.

Captured at Gunpoint
A few minutes later he saw what appeared to be a man coming down the fire escape. Chesterman then ran over to the fire escape which was about 10 feet away and saw McWhinnie, who was flashing a gun. Undaunted Chesterman pulled out his own gun and told the boy, "Drop that gun or I'll kill you." McWhinnie offered no resistance when Chesterman ordered him to hold up his hands. Chesterman then took away McWhinnie's gun and recovered Mrs. Chichester's pocketbook.

When he delivered the youth to Officers Burns and Schoonmaker, McWhinnie was still wearing Mrs. Chichester's hat and coat.

The sequence of events that led to McWhinnie's capture and Ladd's escape and made a hero of the insurance adjuster began to unfold about 6:10 near police box 113 in front of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Halted for Questioning
Officer Carl Janasiewicz, who was patrolling the area, called for a patrol car, stating that he had two young men he wanted questioned. Soon, the officer said, one of the boys started to run toward the hotel and the second followed a few seconds later. The youth who ran into the hotel later was identified as McWhinnie, while his companion, who fire the shot at Janasiewicz, was identified as Ladd. Janasiewicz gave chase to

Meanwhile, Ewart G. Guinier, an officer of the United Public Workers of America, stood outside one of the trooper-guarded Senate doors and announced he intended to try to get in.

Shortly after Ick's announcement a delegation of 10 "marchers" including Alfred K. Stern, the leader, were permitted to enter the capitol.

Heck added that he had received a telegram from Stern, inviting him to address the group in Chamber Hall, across the street from the capitol, but had declined.

He added that he had offered to see a five-member delegation in his private office after the legislative session.

The delegation, alighting from a sixteen car special train, was greeted by twenty Albany policemen, and formed a column for a half-mile march to the capitol steps.

They carried signs and banners supporting continuance of rent control at present ceilings and more funds for low-cost housing.

Late Bulletin

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 18 (AP)—The Republican-controlled Senate today passed Governor Dewey's record $671,439,557 budget.

"The Emergency Committee on Rent and Housing," who asserted "I am a Democrat." He was accompanied by Ralph Scott, who carried an American flag and explained he was a member of the C.I.O. United Electrical Workers. Stern, referring to the bars against his group entering the capitol said:

"Governor Dewey is so used to paid lobbyists he doesn't know how to deal with citizen representatives. This is an affront and an insult."

He declared that last night's statement by Republican Senate Leader Benjamin F. Feinberg, that "the march is Communist inspired, is outrageous and ridiculous."

"Our group is non-partisan but we are Communists," he said. "I am a Democrat." He added that no attempt would be made "to storm the capitol."

As the Democratic caucus continued, two senators, James Crawford, and Alexander A. Falk, both from New York City, left the room pirating illness.

The troopers at the capitol were under orders to refuse admittance to everyone except legislators, their aides, and newspapermen. They carried "night sticks" and wore side arms.

They had been confined in default of $50,000 bail since their capture.

Says U.N. Would Hold Up Palestine Settlement

Settlement of the Palestine dispute will be delayed if it is referred to the United Nations at this time, Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel, told a large audience at the Ponckhockie Congregational Church in a special address there Sunday.

More immediate settlement of the issue would be possible following the withdrawal of British troops from the disputed area, the speaker believed, and he stressed the point that the Jews in the region should not be considered refugees, but as a people who have gone to their God-given land.

The land in Palestine, which Israel is determined to occupy, he said, is about the size of the state of New Jersey, while that held by the Arabs is hundreds of thousands of square miles in area. All land bought by the Jews, he said, has been purchased at top prices.

Rabbi Bloom also stressed the point that the Jew will never give up Palestine if it cost the life of every one of them there. They are determined, he declared, to become a self-governing people. He spoke at length on the historical background of the land and the rights of Israel to claim it.

A special offering was received at the close of his talk for the American Christian Palestine Committee. The $51.50 collected will be forwarded to the committee's headquarters in New York.

Pepper Says Lillenthal Opponents Seek Monopoly

Washington, Feb. 18 (AP)—Senator Pepper (D-Fla.), contended today that the fight against David L. Lillenthal is being pushed by "ambitious militarism and isolationism and greedy efforts to establish private monopolies in atomic energy."

Pepper made that statement in a letter to President Truman commenting on the effort to block Lillenthal's confirmation as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The Florida senator said the nominee as chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, effectively carried out "traditional liberal policies" and that rejection of his nomination by the Senate would not "tarnish his own record of public service."

"But," Pepper continued, "it would be an omen to the people of this country and to the world that there are powerful forces in this country which would, if they could, make impossible America's genuine participation in international cooperation for peace."

Ceremony at Iwo Jima

Tokyo, Feb. 18 (AP)—Twenty-five American planes will drop wreaths tomorrow on the beach at Iwo Jima where the Marines made their initial landing February 19, 1945. In the afternoon, the flag-raising atop Mount Suribachi will be re-enacted.

Ives Report On Labor Is Handed Up

Legislature Is Given Proposals; Warns of Government Action as Final Step

Changes Are Asked

Labor and Compensation Laws Overhaul Given Consideration

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 18 (AP)—The former Ives Committee warned today that if voluntary methods failed to "restore industrial tranquility," the government would have to find means of "eliminating frictions" detrimental to the public interest.

The legislative committee, noting "increasingly inflexible attitudes" in labor-management relations, said changes are imminent, and strongly advised against anti-union legislation to promote industrial peace.

Continuance of New York's program, based on "voluntary action on the part of employers and employees," was recommended. The eight-member committee said "vindictive laws interfering with legitimate trade unionism are harmful to all parties involved."

The recommendations were in the ninth annual report submitted to the Legislature last night by the joint committee on industrial and labor conditions, headed for eight years by Irving M. Ives, New York's new junior U. S. senator.

The report dated December 31, 1946, was signed by Ives, Republican majority leader of the Assembly until his election to the U. S. Senate where he has been named to the labor committee.

Changes Are Proposed

The report recommended many changes in state labor and workmen's compensation laws, highlighted by these:

1 Compensation for loss of wages due to sickness or disability, ranging from a minimum $10 to a maximum $21 weekly, based on earnings. It would be integrated with the unemployment insurance setup.

2 Establishment of a state fair trades practices board.

3 Extension of workmen's compensation coverage to all workers on farms with 10 or more employees.

4 Extension of workmen's compensation to all eligible employers of one employee compared with the present minimum of four.

The committee, in a voluminous report, recommended a legislative program affecting labor-management relations, but promised to "re-examine" the subject in a series of conferences with "responsible representatives of labor management and civic groups."

Declaring self-regulation of unions "preferable to legislative control," the report repeated previous recommendations "to insure the widest possible democracy within the trade union movement."

They were:

1 "Frequent and regular secret elections for the officer of each union."

2 "Secret ballots on strike votes... established by union action."

3 "Providing to members or better still the publishing of comprehensive reports by the fiscal officers entrusted with the control of union funds, together with the 'guarantee of a regular system of audited accounts, accessible to the membership...'"

Reports Accident

Lillian May, of 1 Murphy street, reported to police headquarters that about 11:40 a. m. yesterday a young boy dashed across the street from Grant's store on Wall street and almost ran into her. Mrs. May said she stopped her car quickly but the boy struck a fender lightly and apparently was not injured. The youngster refused to give him name and ran away. Mrs. May said the boy appeared to be about 9 years old.

Cock Main Stopped

There were plenty of fighting birds, abundance of money and ample enthusiasm at a quiet spot in Erie's lake district, near Mullinlar, when a recent attempt to renew game cock fighting occurred. But the Civic Guards heard about it and the abrupt finish was graphically described by one participant, who said when he was fined: "I was chased for miles across the country by a detective who nabbed me."

Wicks Sees No Excuse for Taxes

cease to function April 1 unless a new appropriation is made. Quinn and Irwin Steingut, Democratic leader of the Assembly, asserted in a joint statement that Dewey "has deliberately inflated the budget for 1947 a non-political year so that he can slash it in 1948."

Quinn and Steingut said the "real measure of Dewey's best revealed in his unwillingness to grant genuine relief to our hard-pressed schools."

They contended that "this is a political budget, pure and simple, and 'should be judged on that basis.'"

Wicks and Stephens quoted figures which they said New York City Controller Joseph submitted at the budget hearing last week. And the figures show, they said that:

1 The city needs exactly none of the $102,000,000 it has asked, and * * * has adequate taxing powers.

2 The demands of the city officials were not made in good faith.

3 The city's share of state aid ($191,000,000) is just and, in fact, generous.

Wicks and Stephens declared "no excuse exists for levying new, great taxes on the people of the whole state to provide the city with more revenue."

If the city officials "have need for further authority or power," the GOP leaders said, they have made no request, and we will expect them to present such requests promptly, supported by pertinent and detailed figures."

Stearns said on the floor of the assembly the statement demonstrated that "the cards were stacked against the city of New York before it had an opportunity to present its case."

Meanwhile in New York, Controller Joseph called the Wicks-Stephens statement an "unwarranted attack" and declared the city would continue to seek additional state aid.

Joseph reiterated he was against any new taxes to raise additional funds for the city treasury, and he added that no reason had been given why the state surplus of more than a half-billion dollars could not be used to help the city.

Joseph said he thought the Wicks-Stephens statement was "not their own" and "would be tragic if it wasn't so funny."

Seeks Divorce

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 18, 1947

PAPER SHORTAGE

The paper shortage has extended to every commercial line in which paper is used and it is reported by the industry that it will be some time before the production of paper returns to normal.

Among the reasons why there is less newsprint available to newspapers, especially in the smaller cities, is that publications using coated stock have purchased mills, taking these mills out of commercial circulation.

The decrease in rainfall last year in Newfoundland and the Dominion of Canada which supplies newsprint in great quantities to the United States also has contributed to the curtailment of newsprint. Vast quantities of water are needed in the process of making newsprint and for generating electric power and floating the logs from the woodlands to the mills.

Together with the above reasons, the government too has been a factor in bringing about the paper shortage. So long as paper was needed for military purposes nobody could object, however the war has been over two years but the government continues to use huge amounts of paper with a considerable amount being wasted on propaganda in the shape of "government bulletins" and "government information". This material coming from every department and agency to newspaper offices in a veritable flood is thrown in the waste basket, the average editor not even reading it.

It is not only a question of waste of paper. It is a question of wasted money which is raised by the taxpayers. A recent check disclosed there were over 23,000 government workers engaged in the propaganda tasks of their departments. Press agency costs last year were nearly $75,000,000.

There is a law limiting the activities of government press-agent propaganda, but it is not enforced. In the interests of economy and the paper shortage, the law should be dusted off, studied and strengthened.

As a result of the newsprint shortage, newspapers—such as The Kingston Daily Freeman whose circulation has been steadily increasing to record figures—must curtail the size of its editions. With the generous cooperation of the advertisers, less space will be devoted to advertisements, but the news and features will be carried.

The advertisers will attempt to carry their most important message to the public in the limited space in The Freeman, which is Ulster County's leading advertising medium.

We've always known that some clouds have silver linings, but the latest thing in sky lines is a rocket lining.

WHERE IT'S REALLY COLD

The coldest temperature ever recorded in all North America was recently announced from Yukon Territory, 76 below. A day or so later this figure was eclipsed by one announced from the same area. It was too cold to be measured by official thermometers, not equipped to go below 80. The local experts guessed that it might be 83 below.

It is hard to realize what such low figures are like. Apsley Cherry-Garrard, a naturalist on Capt. Robert F. Scott's South Polar expedition of 1911-12, who experienced thermometer drops to 70 below, said that the cold was bearable till the mercury hit 40 below. After 40 every lower degree was an added degree of torment.

Most people will be glad to take all this on faith.

There are reports of a mountain full of mercury lying idle in British Columbia, and an empty town beside it. Don't rush!

THE GULLIBLE INNOCENTS

Among the many organizations which included many innocents that the Communists used as transmission belts is the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. In "The Communist," for January, 1939, Robert F. Hall, state secretary of the Communist Party of Alabama, for whom Laurent Frantz did "legal research," discusses the Southern Conference for Human Welfare in these words:

"... Comrade Browder anticipated the Southern Conference... This is no coincidence. Our Party has for many years given earnest study to the problems of the South on the scientific basis of Marxist-Leninist principle. Southern state organizations of the Communist Party were represented at the Conference. Our Party contributed in a modest but constructive manner to the success of the Conference. This participation of Communist delegates at the Southern Conference reflects the fact that Southern progressives are becoming aware of the progressive and constructive role played by our Party."

A distinction must be made between the Communist Party and the "front" organizations. The Party is small and exclusive. The "front" organizations include many non-Communists and even anti-Communists known as innocents who strengthen Communist activity by serving on "front" organizations. Earl Browder definitely identified the Southern Conference for Human Welfare as a "front" organization and James W. Ford, Communist candidate for vice president, spoke of it and the Southern Negro Youth Conference in these terms:

"The Communists, through their pioneering work in the South, may justly claim to have laid the foundation for these great social movements (Communist, September 1938, p. 828)."

This organization was initiated by Robert F. Hall, Paul Crouch, Ted Wellman and Joseph Gelders, the same names that appear time and again in connection with the Communist cell in TVA. Herman C. Nixon was elected executive secretary of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare in 1938. Of him, the Dies Report says:

"He had been forced out of Tulane University for his radical views. He had been co-chairman of the Citizens Committee to Investigate Vigilantism in Gadsden, Ala., an offshoot of the International Labor Defense, and a member of the National Committee for People's Rights and of the provisional committee of the National Conference on Constitutional Liberties. The International Labor Defense, as well as the last two committees named, have been cited as subversive by the Attorney General."

At the April, 1942, sessions of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare, James W. Ford was elected executive secretary. He was the signer of a statement defending the Communist Party in March, 1941, and a speaker for the National Conference for Constitutional Liberties in 1941. The latter organization has been cited as subversive by the Attorney General."

The most conclusive proof of the Communist domination of the Southern Conference for Human Welfare is to be found in the organization's strict and unvarying adherence to the line of the Communist Party in the field of foreign policy. It is also a clear indication of the fact that the real purpose of the organization was not 'human welfare' in the South, but rather to serve as a convenient instrument for support of the current Communist Party line."

The change of the Communist line resulting from the signing of the Sino-Soviet pact was reflected in the Southern Conference for Human Welfare. At its meeting in April, 1940, Robert F. Hall, secretary of the Communist Party of Alabama, acting as the Communist whip, presented an eight-point program which demanded 'an uncompromising peace policy.'"

The rift between the Communists and the few liberals was quickly healed as soon as Hitler invaded the Soviet Union and the Communists suddenly relinquished their 'unalterable' opposition to the war.

Both David Lillenthal and Gordon R. Clapp were sponsors of this Conference. It is possible to establish that other responsible and laudable persons were also included among the innocents. But they are not an issue before the country. Lillenthal and Clapp are. They are before the Senate for confirmation for important positions in the country. If they were "innocents" in 1940, why not again? Have they discovered the Trojan horse? Why so late?

That is precisely why they ought not to be confirmed. When in doubt—why confirm?

A MEDICAL CENTER FOR CHILDREN

In many of our large cities, hospitals exclusively for children are doing an excellent work in medical cases. Some do special work in orthopedic surgery, straightening bow legs, preventing club foot, and building up and strengthening muscles wasted by infantile paralysis or other disturbances of the spinal cord. However, "unusual among the forthcoming developments in the field of medical institutions is the proposal to make the Children's Hospital of Boston the first medical center for children anywhere in the world." This hospital has had seventy-seven years of service to the community, but the board of trustees has decided to make it a complete hospital center for children.

Perhaps the most interesting and valuable addition will be a neurologic institute for the care of cases of disturbances of the structure of the brain and nerves, surgery of the brain and nerves, and psychiatry (odd behavior). And, as we think of our young men and women in the armed forces and the large number who were overly nervous and tense causing disturbances of the stomach, intestines, heart and blood vessels, and also of the large number with behavior problems, the need for the study and treatment as provided by this new neurologic institute is most apparent.

"The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has added the project by making the Children's Hospital of Boston a special center for the study and care of infantile paralysis (poliomyelitis). This section will include graduate teaching in infantile paralysis for physicians, nurses, and physical therapists (massage, heat, electricity)."

Health workers, teachers, and parents come to know and use the facilities of this all-around or complete children's hospital center, they will obtain "the most highly technical and specialized services of medicine and of groups of specialists made easy of access to difficult cases."

With the new methods of transportation of the sick this Children's Hospital of Boston is within a few hours reach to populations hundreds of miles removed.

The Republican underground movement of Arizona held a more or less secret meeting a few nights ago for Senator Leverett Saltonstall, of Massachusetts, a big, lanky, Boston aristocrat with a gaunt, Lincolnian face, who is being invited around the country like a freshman being rushed by a fraternity. The Republicans of Tucson invited him to give them a speech and they tried to keep the matter dark, but William Houston Johnson, the editor of our evening paper, The Citizen, got wind of it and broke the story, and William Mathews, the editor of The Star, gave it a whirl with a story and picture on page two next morning.

The Republicans are a minority group in Arizona and they are conscious of their inferiority and I commend them to the mercy of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who is always taking up for minorities. The Republicans of Arizona aren't brash. They don't demand social equality with the Democrats. They know their place and keep it in a voluntary Jim Crow when they are in the country. If they were "innocents" in 1940, why not again? Have they discovered the Trojan horse? Why so late?

That is precisely why they ought not to be confirmed. When in doubt—why confirm?

Nope, it is a pathetic self-consciousness and sense of inferiority complicated by a natural unerring knack for doing the dumbest things.

Mr. Saltonstall has been and gone and you would have thought the little exclusive rally at the country club was a cooking-meat or that Saltonstall was a sort of Dillinger and as hot as a pistol.

A Communist author of a dirty book out of parodying on a percentage under a lecture bureau in New York would get canceled by wire if he or she didn't outdraw at least three to one a Senator who is one of the best Republicans have and one of the best of our time in Capital Hill, too.

Presence of Three Republicans on Atomic Commission Seen as Protection Against Misguided Policies

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Feb. 18—Recently this correspondent wrote that if federal officials, including the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, were to come up for reappointment and examination by the U. S. Senate every year, there would be less point in the controversy that has arisen concerning the confirmation of David E. Lilienthal.

It turns out that, actually, if the Senate confirms Mr. Lilienthal now, there will be another opportunity in less than 18 months to decide whether he has made a good and faithful public servant. The Atomic Energy Act specifies that the terms of all five members shall expire on August 1, 1948. If all are reappointed, the president must then designate the terms of each member and the Senate will have another chance to decide whether to approve. Under the law, the president can specify in August 1948 one member to hold office for three years, another for four, another for five, another for six, and another for seven years.

Whatever policy is followed by the Atomic Energy Commission in the next 17 months probably will be subject to close scrutiny by the other four members of the commission besides Mr. Lilienthal. Of these four members, three are elected as Republicans. Sumner Pike is a Republican from Maine. Lewis Strauss, who was a partner in Kuhn, Loeb & Co., is a Republican from the days of Herbert Hoover, whom he at one time served as private secretary. W. W. Wymack, of Des Moines, Iowa, wrote editorials for the leading Republican paper in Iowa and is considered to be a Republican. The fourth member, Robert Bacher, is a physicist who might be classed as an Independent.

With three Republicans on the Atomic Energy Commission, it doesn't seem probable that there could be any Democratic politics played by Mr. Lilienthal even if he were so disposed. As for public ownership programs, it seems certain that neither Mr. Strauss nor Mr. Wymack would be on that side of the fence, nor would Mr. Pike, whose record in the Securities and Exchange Commission does not indicate any tendencies of that kind.

Could the five members of the commission, if all are confirmed, do anything in the next 17 months to jeopardize the nation's safety through any misguided policies on the atomic bomb? Could Communists infiltrate and get the bomb secret in the interim? These are questions that might be asked out of fear such as is prevalent nowadays, but it seems very doubtful whether the policies set by any five-member board could go so far as to bring any danger without some member of the board going quietly to a member of Congress or the president and telling of his fears. Congress could act immediately to checkmate such a situation.

When Congress some years ago

set up commissions, it had in mind that such bodies are really instruments of the will of Congress rather than of the executive. There have been instances in which the late President Roosevelt, removed from commissions persons who did not go along with his views, but there have also been instances in which Congress took cognizance of divisions within boards and commissions, thus fulfilling the main purpose of the commission idea.

Where the statute permits one-man administration in a governmental agency, there is often real danger of abuse of power. Where, however, there are five-member boards or commissions, such danger is checked through the appointive process, and often the Senate has refused to confirm for reappointment men who have failed to perform their duties as members of Congress have thought they should be performed.

It is seldom that the opportunity for checking comes so soon. The fact that the terms of all five members will expire on August 1, 1948 means that the Senate will have a second look at all the appointees. Also, if Congress wishes to do so, it can amend the statute so as to require the members of the Atomic Energy Commission to come up for reappointment every two years instead of after longer terms. The original idea perhaps in fixing a two-year term was to test out the scope of the commission's work and to determine just what the members would do with this tremendous problem, and then apply the check of confirmation.

If it be assumed that, in confirming Mr. Lilienthal, the Senate will be taking the chance for about 18 months on the chairman, the Senate will have to fear other members whose attitudes are not a subject of controversy to exercise a check, too, in that interim. The whole controversy is the product of fear and suspicion in which the opportunity of the commission to let loose the atomic secret has doubtless been exaggerated.

A third kiwi chick, relic of a vanishing race, has been hatched at the Hawke's Bay game farm in New Zealand, Wellington reports, but nobody knows whether it's a miss or a mister, because the male bird which hatched it is resentful of any approach and the first chick, hatched in 1945, has been fearfully and successfully in captivity. Washington—An authority on cold climates says the frozen North appears to be softening up, so much so that in some areas engineers are attempting to insulate against the heat.

Robert F. Black of the U. S. Geological Survey said in an interview:

"In some sections of Alaska, particularly in the Fairbanks area, there is evidence that the 'relic permafrost'—the permanent layer of frozen earth—is being destroyed."

In certain localities north of Fairbanks Black said, the permafrost is increasing slightly—the frigid ridges are becoming even more rigid.

Trend Toward Mildness
"But generally speaking," he said, "the permafrost is diminishing. It's apparently part of the trend toward a generally warmer climate in the North American continent in recent years. Even in Washington we used to have the cold winters we used to have."

Black, formerly of Norwalk, Ohio, studied geology at Wooster College, Syracuse University, California Institute of Technology and Johns Hopkins University. He is in charge of permafrost research for the geological survey.

The survey, begun in 1944, Army engineers and builders of military installations in Alaska and the Aleutians had begun to discover how little they knew of the composition and behavior of frozen earth.

Railroads and Highways Hit
Black headed three field parties last year. They explored the Yukon river area near the mouth of the Koyukuk river, inland from the Seward peninsula, and also surveyed inside the Arctic Circle, north of the Brooks Range, in the Meade river sector of the coastal plain that faces upon the Arctic ocean.

Next summer they will continue their study of permafrost distribution—and their effort to determine its composition and find out what is happening to it in the Fairbanks area and along highways of the interior.

Melting of the permafrost has caused the collapse of sections of the Alaska Railway, parts of the 1,520-mile Alaska highway from Dawson Creek, B. C., to Fairbanks, and parts of the 477-mile Fairbanks highway from Fairbanks to Valdez and its branches to Circle and Livengood.

When Army engineers had to re-locate almost 500 miles of the Alcan highway in 1943, the year after it had been built, permafrost action was blamed for a part of the damage.

"In the space of 25 years at Fairbanks," said Black, "the frozen sub-surface in the airfield area has receded 25 or 30 feet, and the permafrost can be destroyed very easily by disturbance of natural cover."

On the other hand, permafrost can be retained by insulation—as the Russians learned long ago. The Russian practice, in building on frozen ground, is to sink piles in holes "bored" by steam jets. The piles are wrapped in greased tarpaper so that the freezing or thawing topsoil will not cling to them or force them out of line.

Army engineers, discovering that the barest trickle of warmth turns Alaskan earth into jelly and causes foundations to sink or slide, have taken to the use of insulating mat. The ground under and near the Fairbanks air-drome has been insulated in part with layers of concrete, gravel, moss and spruce boughs to protect the permafrost.

100 to 2,000 Feet Drop
Highways also are being insulated in some areas. Black said there is no permafrost in the areas around Anchorage, Valdez, and Cordova, and only a few small amounts in the Matanuska Valley, north of Anchorage.

Southern Alaska's permafrost begins immediately beyond the coastal range and is 100 to 150 feet deep inland, at Gulikana.

In some Alaskan areas, said Black, permafrost extends to a depth of 900 feet, 3,000 feet in a frank of nature, and a constant source of trouble in the northland, is the tendency of water to accumulate above the permafrost level, but below a surface layer of ice. The tremendous hydrostatic pressure thus caused forces the earth upward in mounds and creates areas of leaning trees or "drunken forests."

Water Supply Affected
"The permafrost problem is closely linked to the problem of Alaska's water supply," Black said.

Fairbanks in particular has a serious water shortage the year around, due to permafrost.

Wells must be drilled more than 100 feet through the ice and frozen earth to reach satisfactory water.

A study of permafrost distribution well may lead to sources of better and more easily obtainable water.

Bills Proposed at Albany

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 18 (AP)—The Assembly has passed and sent to the Senate a Democratic-sponsored bill to make authors as well as publishers and distributors subject to prosecution for dissemination of obscene literature.

Assemblyman Francis X. McGowan of New York city, whose proposed amendment to the present law was passed unanimously by the larger house, said it was the "first objective in the crusade to eliminate obscenity from the field of literature."

The law provides for fines of from $50 to $1,000 and imprisonment of from 10 days to one year, or both.

The Assembly, in two other unanimous actions, approved bills that would:

1. Give the Board of Regents authority to ban a motion picture on the grounds of obscene advertising in any medium.
2. Outlaw the use of "deceptive" glasses or containers in the sale of liquor for on-the-premise consumption.

The Assembly, meanwhile, studied a bill introduced by Republican Willard C. Drumm of Columbia county that would withhold unemployment insurance benefits from anyone losing his job through misconduct.

This proposal presumably would affect school teachers, for under Civil Service law, according to Drumm, they would be liable for loss of the job without legal reason constitutes misconduct.

Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson, Westchester Republican, sponsored the measure to grant the Regents power to revoke or suspend a license for a motion picture on the basis of obscene advertising. The bill was a sequel to the board's recent decision that it had no power to ban the film "The Outlaw" because of alleged undesirable advertising in newspapers and magazines.

The present law empowers the Regents to act on the basis of obscene posters, banners and other similar advertising. Wilson's bill provides for Regents action based on "any advertising."

The bill banning use or possession of liquor containers "deceptive in appearance" so as to mislead consumers as to "its true capacity" was introduced by Assemblyman Wilson S. Van Duzer, Orange county Republican.

The measure also specifies that "no unmixed whiskey, unmixed gin or unmixed rum" should be sold for on-premise consumption except in containers of one or one-and-one-half fluid ounce capacities with an allowable variance of one-eighth of an ounce.

PLANNING YOUR HOME

Cut Costs Now!

It's like locking the door after the horse is stolen to start cutting costs on your new home once construction is under way. The time to worry about keeping costs down is now—while the house is still on paper.

What shape house are you planning? Architects say the square and rectangular plans are best for budgeteers. They both give the largest amount of floor space with the minimum amount of wall area. They both cut to a minimum the number of expensive wall corners needed.

And if you plan a compact house, you'll have that much more space to devote to a yard and lawn. It just doesn't seem like home without a garden to putter about in!

It takes careful figuring to build the home you want at a price you can afford—start planning now. Our Reader Service booklet No. 15 can help you. It has floor plans and illustrations of many small homes, plus data on planning, building and financing.

New Enrollment Gain by United Medical Service

The enrollment of 24,781 persons in United Medical Service during 1946 represents an increase of 152 per cent over the 1945 enrollment and brings the total to 405,292. It was announced today (February 17) by Rowland H. George, president. The increase places United Medical Service second in size among the 45 Blue Cross affiliated medical service plans which now serve 4,183,872 persons.

A total of 18,866 bills amounting to $800,541.60 was paid by United Medical Service for members who received medical, surgical, maternity, and pediatric care during 1946 as against 7,277 bills valued at $434,826.63 during 1945. Since the service was reorganized in January 1947, 27,997 bills amounting to $1,329,313.25 have been paid.

According to Mr. George, 11,668 physicians representing at least six out of ten physicians in the 17 counties in the Greater New York area now cooperate with United Medical Service. In four counties, he states, 100 per cent of the medical profession engaged in active practice participates.

"At the end of two-and-one-half years," says Mr. George, "we can point to a substantial record. Our financial foundations are sound and enrollment is steadily increasing. The promises we made to the public have been more than fulfilled. We are particularly proud of the fact that our doctors have agreed to accept United Medical Service payments as full compensation for services to members in sponsored hospitals. New York's Blue Cross Plan provides specified payments up to $25 toward physicians' fees for surgical and maternity care in the hospital. Monthly rates are 40 cents for an individual, $1 for a husband and wife, and $1.80 for a family."

The surgical-medical plan provides all the benefits of the surgical-medical plan, in addition, medical care in the home and office. This plan costs an individual member $1.60 a month and a family $4 a month. It is available only to employed groups of five or more persons in organizations where the employer contributes to the subscription cost.

United Medical Service is sponsored by the Medical Society of the State of New York and 17 county medical societies.

Easter Island Airbase Plans Made by Chile

Santiago, Chile—Easter Island, lonely speck in the mid-Pacific inhabited by 800 bored Polynesians and a handful of Chileans, may become a commercial air base on the Australian run.

A group of Chilean technicians, back from a trip there, reported finding a suitable site, which the government is considering. For more than a year Chilean officials have been discussing with Australians the possibility of flying planes from Australia across the South Pacific to Chile.

Stops on the proposed route would include not only Easter Island, Chilean possession 2,260 miles west of the mainland, but also Juan Fernandez Island, famed as the scene of Robinson Crusoe's adventures, 480 miles from the Chilean coast.

The air mission visited Easter Island on the latest trip of the Chilean transport, Angamos, which twice a year calls there with supplies and brings back its meager exports—this time five tons of Merino wool and 500 pigs with tales of a simple, clean, good-natured people who do a little farm work, play marbles—the adults as well as the children—dance the tango and have no need of money, bartering their products and their services.

Humberto Molina Luco, a Red Cross official who visited the island, said its most urgent need is a new leprosyarium. The present one is crowded, with 21 lepers, while 22 others roam the streets. The "prosy" cases have more than doubled in 10 years, there having been only 18 in 1936.

Even for the natives, the visitors reported, life is "tortuous" on the island of 51 square miles. The lights go out at 9 o'clock, when the broken-down electric plant is shut down to rest its two aged engines. The returned officials urged the city of Valparaiso, which has jurisdiction over the island, to send it new motors, a radio and some movies.

The inhabitants speak little Spanish despite the school conducted by three nuns. Hence, officials said, the radio and movies would meet a cultural need.

Court of Appeals Gets Longchamps' Case

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 18 (AP)—The Court of Appeals has before it for decision a lower court ruling continuing the liquor licenses of the Longchamps restaurants in New York city in the face of cancellation of the permits by the State Liquor Authority.

The state's highest tribunal heard the case yesterday. The Appellate Division, first department, annulled the S.L.A.'s cancellation of the licenses Jan. 21 and ordered the authority to hear further evidence offered by the restaurant chain.

The authority contended yesterday that it had proved charges that Longchamps had sold liquor on credit. The S.L.A. declared the Appellate Division had overreached its powers in ordering admission of new evidence.

The liquor permits originally were revoked last December, on the ground that drinks were served on credit. Longchamps contended that this was a common practice among city restaurants.

The authority last week denied license applications to Longchamps on other grounds—federal income tax evasion convictions of E. Allan Lustig, company president, and Henry Lustig, company secretary.

Ball Appeal Heard

The Court of Appeals also heard yesterday an appeal involving bail of two New York city men held as material witnesses in the fatal heating last election day of Joseph Scaterriglio, Republican worker in A.L.P. Congressman Vito Marcantonio's election district.

Lower courts have ordered a $250,000 bail set for Joseph Rao and Michael Coppola reduced to $40,000 each, holding the original bail "excessive."

The men have denied knowledge of the beating.

Her Christmas gift from her husband was a magnificent skunk suit, and as she unwrapped it, Christmas morning she bubbled over with delight. "Isn't it marvelous?" she cried. "I just can't believe that such a beautiful coat can come from such a foul-smelling beast." At this the husband bridled. "I hardly expected gratitude, my dear," he said angrily, "but I would like a little respect."

Your mind is your own private enclosure, into which nothing harmful or degrading can enter without your permission.

Mrs. Blank, after a family squabble: "It might do some good for wises to go out on strike once in a while."

Mr. Blank: "Go ahead. I've got a peach of a strikebreaker in mind."

"Fashion Designers are Plotting Against Male Pocketbook," headline; but there is nothing new about that.

"The youngster had heard much about his little cousin, Peter although he had never seen him. At long last he was told Peter was coming for a visit and he registered great excitement. Nobody could understand it when he took one look at his little cousin and burst into tears of disappointment. 'I thought,' he sobbed, 'that Peter was a rabbit!'"

Yes, we're getting a lot of government these days, but would probably be even worse off if we were getting as much as we're paying for.

The merchant's son looked up, puzzled from his schoolbook, "Tutu," he queried, "what do they mean by 'tutu'?" "Well, son," "I'll explain, answered the merchant, "Suppose a customer comes into the store, buys a lot of goods, puts down ten dollars too much, and leaves. Now ethics is: should I or shouldn't I tell my partner about that?"

"Professor, what should a woman take when run down?"

"The license number, madame, the license number."

The only sure way to live with your income is to keep adding to your income.

A man had barely paid off his house when he put another mortgage against it in order to buy a car. Having the car, he went to a loan broker to try to get a mortgage on the car in order to build a garage. "But if I make you the loan," asked the broker, "how will you buy gas for the car?" It seems to me," replied the man with dignity, "that if I own a house, car, and garage, I should be able to get credit for gas."

Stop For School Buses

It's against the law to pass a school bus which is stopped to pick up or discharge pupils. Signs reminding motorists of this have been erected along major highways by the New York State Department of Public Works.

Black Market Is Considered Best Business in Japan

Tokyo, Feb. 18 (AP)—The most flourishing and lucrative business in Japan today, say officials at General MacArthur's headquarters, is the black market. Anyone with sufficient yen can buy anything from a cup of rice to 50,000 tons of coal.

Black marketing has reached such proportions that it now is nearly a free market and is hampering the nation's economy. Recently, one headquarters official told a group of Japanese businessmen that if Japan's domestic and imported raw materials could be channeled into industry the country could produce sufficient exports for a self-supporting economy.

Headquarters sources report the prevalence and extent of the black market is due to two factors:

1. Failure of the Japanese government to establish an overall control plan.

2. Failure of the Japanese government to put any teeth into the few control measures on the books.

Boldness Is Astounding

The boldness of the black marketers is astounding. American headquarters officials cite the following examples:

One man recently offered to sell illegally 50,000 tons of coal. A few days ago, J. Z. Reddy, Arlington, Va., of the industry section at MacArthur's headquarters, told Japanese newsmen that in the Osaka area in the last few months 150,000 tons of coal were diverted into the black market.

Fishermen of one area decided at a formal meeting to funnel 30 per cent of their catches into ration channels instead of their total catch.

A fertilizer manufacturer was supplied lumber to build 50 houses for workmen. Two houses were built. Lumber for the others disappeared.

People Lose Confidence

The Japanese press universally favors more stringent controls, but metropolitan papers say flatly the people have lost confidence in the government's ability to make controls stick.

The black market affects the Japanese universally from the ordinary citizen to the government, which is asking MacArthur to import about $1,000,000 worth of oil as a substitute for coal which is disappearing into illegal channels.

Occasionally the government cracks down. Recently it confiscated 11,000 hides, 300,000 square feet of leather and 2,000 pairs of shoes from the black market.

The Japanese government is considering legislation to control industrial raw materials and products, but until such measures become law and are enforced strictly, occupation officials are pessimistic about these being any improvement in the situation.

Jersey Bonus Doubtful

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 18 (AP)—A state bonus plan to pay $98,942.970 to 531,382 New Jersey veterans of World War 2 at the rate of $10 for each month of service up to a maximum of $150 for domestic and $250 for foreign duty faced a doubtful future in the current session of the Legislature despite unanimous approval by a bi-partisan commission last night.

Mother, 4 Die in Fire

Chicago, Feb. 18 (AP)—A mother and her four children perished in a nearly morning fire today in their home in suburban Harvey.

Sgt. George Kauer of the Harvey Police Department identified the dead as Mrs. Nora Hoover, 43, and her children, Linda May, one year old, James, 12, Violet, 13 and Robert, 7. Kauer said the father was not at home.

Eva Tanguay's Estate

Los Angeles, Feb. 18 (AP)—Eva Tanguay, who lived in luxury as the toast of the musical comedy world, died leaving only furniture, clothing and a 1930 automobile.

Her will filed for probate yesterday, listed her estate's value at less than $500. It goes to a sister, Mrs. Blanche Gifford of nearby Sherman Oaks. Miss Tanguay died January 11 after a long illness.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Feb. 18—Residents of Woodstock will be pleased to learn that J. P. McEvoy, popular playwright, author and roving editor for Reader's Digest, at present at Havana, Cuba, has purchased an 81-acre farm at Shady, from Benson Lupo. It is not known, at this time, when Mr. McEvoy will return to Woodstock, but he plans placing a tenant farmer on the property this spring.

Carl Weimer, Woodstock artist, is holding his annual exhibition of oil paintings at the Grand Central Gallery, New York, beginning today and lasting through the month.

Mrs. Harold Elgar of New York is the guest of Mrs. B. F. Elgar and Miss Florence Elgar, who are spending the winter at the Governor Clinton Hotel at Kingston.

The Elgars expect to return to their Byrdcliffe home in the early spring.

Postmaster and Mrs. Howard Bell have left for Jacksonville, Florida, to visit their son, Byron, and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Diehl of Portsmouth, Va., have returned to their home after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. William S. Elwyn, Jr. and Mrs. Elwyn.

Grandchildren of Mrs. Elwyn's baby daughter, Bonnie Kay, whom they saw for the first time, Mrs. Bernice De Wells, Mrs. Elwyn's mother, who accompanied the Diehls, plans to remain in Woodstock.

Mrs. Stephen Irimescu attended recent exhibition of water colors and sculpture at the Salmagundi Club, New York, and was especially interested in paintings by two Woodstock artists, Stanley Crane's "Willow Church" and Frank C. Bensing's "Mountain Road."

Miss Anna B. Carolan's farm on the lower Briarcliffe road, formerly the Rick's property, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Dudley G. Summers of East Orange, N. J., who have been spending the winter in the home of Miss Anita Smith and Miss Alice Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Summers are well known in Woodstock. They owned an active studio at Lake Hill for a number of years. They plan extensive improvements on their newly acquired property.

The former home of Dr. M. B. Downer which was purchased approximately one year ago by Michael K. Mourgan, real estate broker on Long Island, has been sold to Mrs. Hans Anderson of Woodstock. Mrs. Anderson recently returned from a visit with relatives in Norway.

Mrs. Anna Nielson of New York has purchased Mrs. Natalie Tepper's cottage on Park street.

Due to the steady increase in Woodstock's population, Postmaster Howard Bell has found it necessary to install one hundred additional lock boxes in the post office. The installation of these new boxes will entail considerable alterations.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty urination with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 30 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubules wash out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

He called police and a few minutes a police car was in front of the jail, another was at the rear and two county police cars were on hand. Eight armed men surrounded the jail.

Then the sheriff discovered the lights were out because of a power failure. The prisoners were asleep.

Now depends on famous cereal to keep "regular"

Are harsh laxatives making your life miserable? Then read this sincere, unsolicited letter:

"I had so much trouble with irregularity that it just about drove me crazy. Dosing myself for a short time...eat me plenty. I was about to give up hope when I heard about KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Believe me, eating this breakfast cereal every day works wonders! Now I depend entirely on ALL-BRAN to keep me regular." Mrs. Frank W. Lange, Vernonia, Oregon.

A WHITE ELEPHANT

Few situations are more difficult than that described in the following letter: "When one receives a gift such as a lamp, table, picture or any other item intended to be useful and decorative but which, as it happens, is neither in our particular house, does one have to use it in order to avoid being rude?"

This situation cannot be solved especially when a present comes from a bride's new in-laws whose feelings she doesn't want to hurt. If it comes from her own family, she can be a little more frank. Sometimes if the color is really discordant with that of a room, she can put it elsewhere than in the one for which it is intended.

Gloves . . . And Gloves!

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct to wear long gloves at a dinner? Of course, I mean when the glove part is turned back or just the long gloves without the fingers are worn. Some of the new ones come so that the hand part can be detached without taking the whole thing off. I suppose you know the ones I mean.

Answer: This is one of those situations where fashion upsets convention. It always has been extremely bad form to take the hand part of the glove off and turn it in at the wrist. But in the present day when the upper part of the gloves becomes a sort of disconnected sleeve, the answer is to do what you think most becoming to the dress and your arms.

The Ever-Present Jr., 2nd, 3rd, etc.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a son is born to Mr. and Mrs. John Jones Jr. and John Jones Sr. still is living, while the great-grandfather of the new boy—also named John Jones—is dead, will the new boy be J. J. 3rd or 4th? Also, should the suffix be written this way, in Roman numerals or how?

Answer: The present generation will be John Jones, Jr., written 3rd, third or III, as you prefer.

Writing to Both Husband and Wife

Dear Mrs. Post: When writing a letter to both husband and wife, should it begin "Dear Tom and Betty" or "Dear Betty and Tom"?

Answer: "Dear Betty and Tom" unless the husband is double the age of his wife, then you would say "Dear Tom and Betty."

Correct forms for letter writing are found in Mrs. Post's booklet, "The Etiquette of Letter Writing," obtainable for 10 cents in coin and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope sent in care of the Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail more promptly. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Kingston High Seeks Eighth Straight in Game Here Tonight

Local Basketeers Play Beacon Five At City Auditorium

Maroons in Final Tune-Up Before Middletown Tilt Friday; Weaver Still Ahead of Huffmire

Kingston High School's defending DUSO League cage champions will throw their seven game winning streak out on the municipal auditorium boards tonight when Beacon Five furnishes the opposition. Game time is set for 8:30 o'clock with a preliminary slated for the 7:30 o'clock bell.

This is Kingston's biggest basketball week of the current campaign for following tonight's non-league affair the Maroons journey to Middletown Friday to meet Coach Mac Wagner's unpredictable team. The game will decide the second half championship. Leading the DUSO League with three straight wins the Maroons will make their position on the second half standing pretty secure if they knock off the Middletown team. Then only one game stands in the way of the title, that with Newburgh here Friday night, February 28.

Will Charter Buses

Council G. Warren Kins announced Monday morning that at least three buses to charter for Middletown Friday night. These planning to attend by bus are requested to sign up for transportation before Friday. The Maroon mentor also issued advice to local fans who plan to see the game to be at the Middletown gym early due to the limited seating capacity.

Fresh from their 21-41 decision over Poughkeepsie Friday, afternoon the Kiwanis aren't expected to have too much trouble with Beacon tonight. The locals have hit their stride and have come up with seven wins in a row since losing to Middletown earlier in the season.

Coach Kins' starting five is again expected to be made up of Kenny Lowe and Mike Rizzo at forwards, Eddie Weaver at center, and Joe Albany and Bobby Gheer in the backcourt. George Gheer, capable reserve forward, showing splendid form in the Poughkeepsie tilt, "Champ" Holstein and Harry Koch also are expected to see action tonight.

Beacon comes here tonight fresh from a 45 to 40 victory over Fallsburg Central last week. Beacon's big threat is Jimmy Hopper, a center, who has been a factor in every game. Kingston also holds a victory over Fallsburg, 34-28.

Weaver Still Leads

Ed Weaver, Kingston's great scoring ace, still leads the DUSO scoring records with 172 in his eight games to date. Ed has tossed in 73 field goals and 26 fouls. Don Huffmire, Liberty ace, is second with 165 in nine games. Following are the first 15 scorers according to records compiled by Irving J. Thomas, Freeman sports editor:

Two World Records Set In Florida Time-Trials

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 18 (AP)—Two world speed records for powerboats were set here yesterday in one-mile time trials held as an aftermath of the Southland Sweepstakes Regatta.

Morelan Viscel of Los Angeles, Calif., sent his 135-cubic inch hydroplane "Hurricane" over the measured mile at an average speed of 69.23 miles per hour to boost the record for the 151 cubic inch hydroplane class nearly four miles an hour over the old mark of 65.766.

Frank Foulks of Essex, Md., lifted his own mark of 50.698 for Class C runabouts to 52.709 in his Sagana IV. Les Traflet of St. Petersburg drove his entry at 51.282 and held the record for 20 minutes until Foulks made his runs.

Explaining Viscel's feat, Ted Houser of Miami, vice president of The American Powerboat Association who officiated at the time trials, said that a boat may race in any class larger than its own. The old mark for the 151 class was set by Edison Hedges of Atlantic City in September, 1946, at Washington, D. C.

Gambling Is Banned

Atlanta, Feb. 18 (AP)—Athletic officials throughout the state have approved a bill introduced in the Georgia Legislature to ban gambling on sports events. The bill was favorably reported out of committee yesterday after coaches and sports directors urged passage of the measure, which would make it a misdemeanor to engage in open gambling in any form on sporting events.

High Falls Dumps Tony's Aces, 47-37

Berg High Man for Losers With 24 Points

The High Falls Firemen added another victory to their impressive string Saturday night by defeating Tony's Aces, 47 to 37 in a well-played game. High Falls held a 21 to 18 lead at the half.

Led by Tony Debrosky and Joe Dulin, both star performers of a few years ago, the Aces pressed the Firemen from the outset. Johnny Berg, center for the Aces, was a big thorn in the Firemen's side by scoring 24 points. Charlie Neff was high for the winners with 16 markers.

In the preliminary the Connolly Five defeated the Firemen Juniors by 45 to 24. R. Maury was high for the winners with 18 markers. Berg paced the losers with 17.

Better Bowling

By BILLY SIXTY

MAKE THEM ALL: To the repeated queries to whether this, that or the other split can be negotiated, the answer is that they can all be made. I recently saw one bowler cut down one of the dizziest "leaves" in the game—the Nos. 4-6-7-9-10 pins.

He got it by hitting the No. 4 pin thin on the RIGHT side so that, in falling, it first tipped over the No. 7, and then rolled across the alley to knock over the Nos. 6-9-10.

The 7-9-10 split has been made a number of times. Hank Marino explained how he did it twice in Akron, O., while on exhibition tour in 1936. The first time he drew the 7-9-10 he merely pitched the ball at the No. 10 without any thought of making the split, he said, and then all but jumped out of his shoes when the No. 9 slid over to get the No. 7.

Of course Marino was asked by spectators to repeat the shot and finally agreed to have the pins spotted. "I honestly figured it would take me a week or more to make the split again," he said.

Potters, Chez Emile Record Fourth Straight in League

K.A.A. Dinner Set Tonight for Barn; Guests to Attend

The battle for first place in the second half standings of the City Y. M. C. A. Basketball League was thrown into a three-way tie Monday night when both the Potter Brothers and Chez Emile quintets registered their fourth victory in a row. The Potters downed the Marines by 44-27 and Chez Emile stopped the Rienzo A. C. 47 to 36.

The second annual "Hot Stove League" banquet, sponsored by the Kingston Athletic Association, and featuring such luminaries as Frankie Frisch, Jack Coffey and Harry Markson, is scheduled for Bob Teetsell's Barn tonight starting at 7:30 o'clock.

Practically all of the pastebards have been sold indicating a sell-out throng of about 275 to 300 sport fans. "We could have sold a couple of hundred more if we had the space to put them," Sam Moss and Chris Rienzo, co-chairmen of the ticket committee explained today.

Tonight's mammoth show, which includes the personal appearance of top figures in baseball, boxing and college sports, also will be highlighted by a novel entertainment program. Several acts of vaudeville which have been appearing at the Penguin will take the floor during the festivities.

In arranging the big sports show the K.A.A. has invited Coaches Willard Burke and Russ Cunningham and the Kingston High School varsity football team to attend as guests in special recognition for the team's championship in the DUSO League last fall. Mayor William Edmuth, Police Chief Ernest Boss and other city dignitaries also will be on hand.

The personal appearances of Frisch, Markson, Coffey and Ray Kelly, New York Times sports writer, promises an interesting evening for sports-loving fans of Kingston. Frisch, recently named to baseball's Hall of Fame, has always been a popular figure in the national pastime. Frisch also has been selected by Horace Stoneham to broadcast the New York Giants games this summer.

Brooklyn Granted Use of Stadium

that a program of the kind contemplated by the Class D club would insure baseball fans more regular, frequent, and improved baseball games. It likewise would, they said, remove the uncertainty of revenue receipts resulting from the use of the stadium.

The agreement will permit the city to rent the stadium for such activities as may be scheduled when the Class D schedule lists Kingston out of town. The report also added that the Dodgers have indicated they will be willing to revise their schedule even after adoption, in the event the city or the Council indicates sufficiently in advance that the use of the stadium is required for some important function of particular benefit to the community at large.

Alderman Victor Roth of the 12th Ward inquired if any other proposal had been submitted to the city for use of the stadium.

Alderman Thomas F. Coughlin, chairman of the Building and Supplies Committee, said the committee had considered a proposal from the Kingston Baseball Enterprises which offered to match any rental fee offered by the Dodgers. The Kingston Baseball Enterprises would operate an independent club along the lines of the Kingston Racetracks.

Chairman Coughlin acknowledged receipt of the K.B.E. offer but said that a subsequent investigation by his committee failed to identify the persons comprising Kingston Baseball Enterprises.

Alderman Roth asked if any provision had been made for the City Baseball League games at the stadium and was assured that the league could play. Alderman Paul Zucca pointed out, however, that the City Twilight League had expressed a preference to play its games at the athletic field if the diamond there is put back in shape.

The city ordinance governing rental and other conditions for use of the stadium, adopted in May 1946, was amended on a motion by Alderman Joseph Amato of the Fifth Ward, seconded by Alderman Oulton in order to permit the city to lease the stadium on a yearly basis. The ordinance in its original form made no provision for rental except on a game basis. The motion was passed by a unanimous vote.

No action was taken on the matter of the city of Kingston granting a lease to the Art Students League of New York for use of city property near Woodstock on which the former N.Y.A. project buildings are located. The buildings were purchased recently by the Art Students League which plans to operate art classes starting in May, if the city of Kingston grants the lease.

"but of all the freakish things to happen—I made it with the very first ball."

The 7-9-10 split undoubtedly has been negotiated many times, but I imagine Marino is the only one to make it twice in one night. To cut it down, play to hit the No. 10 fully on the inside (left) with a hook ball, so that with its right-to-left spin it nudges the No. 9 lightly and sends it over to get the No. 7.

Three-Way Tie for Top Berth Exists; Vets to Seek Fifth Win in Row Tonight

The battle for first place in the second half standings of the City Y. M. C. A. Basketball League was thrown into a three-way tie Monday night when both the Potter Brothers and Chez Emile quintets registered their fourth victory in a row. The Potters downed the Marines by 44-27 and Chez Emile stopped the Rienzo A. C. 47 to 36.

The V.F.W. cagers, who meet Aborns at the 8 o'clock bell tonight on the "Y" board, hope to ring up their fifth straight conquest. The 7 o'clock attraction pits the Madden Aces and the Hustlers. The finale at 9 o'clock brings together Guinick's Gang and Potters. Potters must win tonight also to stay in the running to top consideration.

Buddy Hughes, former Kingston High School forward, led Potters to their fourth straight win last night when he gleamed 18 points. Potters held a slim 18 to 17 edge at halftime, but took a commanding edge during the final two periods of play. Amato's 10 points topped the Marines.

Chez Emile, holding a comfortable 21 to 9 edge after the first two periods of play, retained in the driver's seat during the final half to belt the Rienzo A. C. by 47-36. Len Siedler, another K.H.S. star, took scoring honors for the winners with 18 points. Hank Krum pushed in 12 for the Rienzo quintet.

Clippers Need One More Win to Clinch Circuit Flag; Bob Terwilliger High for Winners

The league-leading Kerhonkson Otto Clippers defeated the Napanoch Institution five Sunday afternoon by 53 to 51 in a hard-fought league tilt. The Clippers, with a record of four wins and one loss, need one more victory to clinch the championship.

Bob Terwilliger again paced the Clippers to victory with 17 points. He tossed in five fields and even fouls. Krum gathered in 11 for the Clippers. Kelly and Reid were high for the losers with 17 and 14 respectively.

Kerhonkson will battle Pine Bush next Sunday in an important league encounter. A Kerhonkson win will assure the Clippers of the title. A Pine Bush triumph will throw the final standings in a three-way tie.

Cards Best Team Taking Close Ones In National League

In winning the National League pennant last year, the world champion St. Louis Cardinals also demonstrated that they were the best team in the Ford Frick circuit when it came to winning close ball games, a bulletin from Charles Segar's National League Service Bureau reveals.

Eddie Dyer's Redbirds figured in 53 games which were decided by one run, and of these, won 34 while losing 19 for a mark of 64.2. The Pirates and Cincinnati Reds were the chief one-run victims of the champs, each losing six games. The Cards won at least four games by one run from each of the other teams. They won five from Brooklyn although, in the playoff series, both games were decided by larger margins.

While they didn't win as many one-run games as either the Dodgers or the Cubs, the Boston Braves' percentage was higher than either. The Braves racked up 27 one-run victories and lost only 18, the lowest in the loop.

Many animals cannot perceive colors.

While they defeated the Giants in so many games, the Cubs didn't win any one-run affairs from the Braves. The Braves, on the other hand, gained only two one-run decisions over Charley Grimm's boys which proves that when these teams met they certainly didn't make 'em close. Only three games between the Braves and Dodgers were decided by one run. The Braves won one and the Dodgers the others.

At Least 20 Dead In Pennsylvania Railroad Wreck

man estimated "around 80 persons" were injured.

McArdle, of Scottsdale, Pa., and Henry, from Derry, Pa., were on the train's second locomotive. Parawick, from Altoona, was on the first locomotive, whose engine was badly scuffed.

Two locomotives were used to haul the trains up the steep Allegheny Mountains.

The bodies were removed to the Pennsylvania station at Altoona, where undertakers called for them. Ambulances from all funeral homes and hospitals in the vicinity were used to transport injured to hospitals.

The accident disrupted all railroad telephone communication in the area, the spokesman said, increasing the difficulty of obtaining information and details.

The "Red Arrow" is one of the Pennsylvania's crack passenger trains. It had eight sleepers, one diner, one coach and the rest baggage and mail cars.

Tom Lynam, an Altoona photographer, said he saw three or four bodies lying around and injured passengers were moaning inside an overturned car.

"I shone my flashlight inside and saw arms and legs sticking up," he said. "Some railroad workers with acetylene torches were cutting the wreckage to release passengers who were pinned down. The injured were being carried away on stretchers."

"One woman was calling for her daughter, who was in a car that went down a 100-foot embankment."

"It was a pretty weird sight and made me feel shaky. My two brothers, who drove from Altoona with me, became so nervous they could hardly hold still."

Witnesses told of a clergyman, identified only as the Rev. Lieberman of Canton, O., praying and comforting passengers in the car at the bottom of the embankment.

The train's two eastbound trucks were open but the westbound pair were blocked. Traffic was rerouted.

Lynam said the wreck occurred on a long slope leading to Cresson Mountain—the highest and most picturesque of the Alleghenies in this area. Its altitude is 2,100 feet.

A railroad spokesman said this was the status of the train: Plunged down the embankment—two engines, mail car, passenger baggage car, coach, two sleepers; overturned but remaining on embankment—diner and two sleepers; derailed but upright—three sleepers, still on rails—two sleepers, one coach, one express car.

Angus Steer at Large, Fled When Truck Hit Tree

An Angus beef steer, one of a load of five which Morris Kessler of Woodbridge was delivering to the slaughtering plant of the Kingston Beef Corporation, Hurley avenue, escaped when the truck struck a tree Monday evening and according to report from the plant was still at large this noon.

Kessler reported to the sheriff's office at 7:30 Monday evening that the steer escaped when a tire on the truck went flat, causing the truck to leave the road and strike a tree. At the beef corporation office it was stated that the steer was a wild one and when the truck struck jumped over the rail and got away.

Deputy Sheriffs Harry Keator and Delbert Sapp reported that they made a search of the back roads in the vicinity of the accident, which happened between Hurley and Kingston, but saw no trace of the steer and could find no one who had seen it. The animal was valued at about $200.

Big Four Treaty Tangle

London, Feb. 18.—(P)—East-west misunderstanding—the boggy of virtually every international conference since the war—tangled the Big Four in disagreement today and left peace treaties for Germany and Austria largely unwritten. This means that the task of drafting peace terms will fall largely to the Big Four's foreign ministers when they meet in Moscow less than three weeks hence.

Gunman Caught By Hotel Guest

Ladd and when Ladd reached the area near Doc Smith's Garage, he wheeled around and fired a shot that went winging over the officer's head. Ladd disappeared into the darkness and still remains at large.

About 6:45 o'clock, Chesterman was approached by Officer Schoonmaker in the hotel lobby who asked him to assist in rounding up the fugitive. Chesterman, who has a permit to carry a gun, first joined Officer Janasiewicz in the search through the hotel but returned to the lobby to report no success. Officer Schoonmaker then asked him to check the cars around the Stuyvesant garage and it was a few minutes later that he captured McWhinnie in the latter's room about half an hour before he decided to attempt an escape.

The police state that McWhinnie, after dashing into the hotel through the front door, rapped on the door of a room and flashed a gun when Mr. Chicheser responded to the knock on her door. McWhinnie held the elderly woman at gunpoint while they were searching the building and ordered her to look out into the hall to see if any policemen were there, the police say. The police estimate McWhinnie was in Mrs. Chicheser's room about half an hour before he decided to attempt an escape.

According to the police, McWhinnie and Ladd said they were hitchhiking from Mechanicsville to Florida. When they met Officer Janasiewicz for directions to the Salvation Army as they wanted to get something to eat and a place to sleep. The officer's suspicions were aroused and he asked the two young men to stand by while he called headquarters to ask for a patrol car. The young men, apparently became alarmed and made an effort to flee.

Two Temporary Appointments in Rosendale Village

Two temporary appointments have been made in the village of Rosendale to fill village offices which recently became vacant through the death of officials. William Flemming has been temporarily appointed village clerk to succeed Warren Sammons, who had served the village for many years prior to his recent death and William Myers, one of the village trustees, is acting mayor filling the vacancy created through the death of Mayor Golden Lewis.

Since the annual village elections will be held on March 18 under the provisions of the Election Law, the temporary officials will act until the annual election when the voters will fill the position of mayor and trustee for the full term. The clerk is appointed.

The term of William Myers as trustee will expire this year while the term of trustee Biker does not expire until 1948. This will make necessary the election of a mayor and one trustee. It is understood that Mayor Lewis had not intended to again seek the office of mayor.

At present there are two factions in the field circulating petitions. One ticket is headed by J. W. Vaughn, village druggist, who has served for some time as registrar of vital statistics, and seeks now the office of mayor. His running mate will be Vincent H. Steeley and the second ticket is headed by Morris DeWitt for torney Louis G. Bruhn moved the sentence.

McAlister Calm When Sentenced

Mr. Flanagan, defense counsel then presented to the court a list of five West Point names whom he said desired to be heard in McAlister's behalf.

Talked With Chaplain

The Right Rev. Msgr. Murdoch spoke, but telling the court of the splendid record of McAlister, whom he said had turned to the church in his difficulties. He told the court that McAlister had discussed his family difficulties several times and Mrs. McAlister had once talked over the matter in an effort to straighten out the situation. Mr. McAlister was terribly disturbed over the difficulty and worried over his small son's future.

On the day of the tragic affair here, McAlister called the chaplain and discussed his wife and child. Father Murdoch said he had begged McAlister to wait until his assistant, Father Moore, returned since he was more familiar with the facts of the McAlister case. At the time McAlister seemed very much "up-set" and very "emotional." A plea for suspension of any sentence given was made.

Colonel Curry referred to McAlister as a hard working, courageous person. Under his command he said McAlister had displayed the best of qualities and had served as assistant to weapons maintenance and later became head of the weapons maintenance department. He urged clemency and if possible parole.

For Colonel Townsend, commanding officer of McAlister's detachment, said he had promoted McAlister to technical sergeant, second highest rank an enlisted man might attain, because of his enterprise and willingness. He said McAlister had in his charge several hundreds of thousands of dollars in equipment which he had guarded and preserved. There was no mark against his record. On September 9 he said McAlister came to him with his personal problem and sought a 15-days leave to straighten out his affairs.

"On September 24 he returned from that leave and came to the office to report. I shall never forget the look of that man," said Colonel Townsend.

"He looked like one of my men of Guadalcanal who had his guts torn out, like someone who had had a bayonet thrust in him and twisted," continued the colonel. He said he advised legal procedure to get the matter adjusted.

Major Stowell, provost-marshal, said he had observed McAlister and because of his outstanding work he had inquired who he was. He told Col. Townsend he would "love to steal McAlister for his detachment." He said McAlister's record was absolutely clear and he pleaded for clemency.

"If he is allowed to return to the army I would not hesitate to take him in my detachment now," said Major Stowell.

Arnold Feldman referred to advice which McAlister had sought to secure custody of his child, how an application had been made before Judge Egan in Orange county in custody proceedings. Feldman said McAlister became so excited over his family troubles that he could not do his work. This change in the man, he said, was due to the action of his wife and the knowledge of Warden's acts.

Attorney's Plea

In his plea Mr. Flanagan said McAlister was married at 20 and had been a loving and faithful husband and father. "The weakness of the moral structure of his wife accounts for his present plight," said Mr. Flanagan. He said McAlister learned of the unfaithfulness of his wife only a short time before the fatal act here in September. Mr. Flanagan handed the court a packet of notes which he said had been written by Warden to Mrs. McAlister and he told the court there were admissions of adultery in the notes. This packet of letters he said had been left in the McAlister home in Highland Falls, to be found by the husband.

Flanagan told the court that despite pleas of McAlister that Warden break off with his wife, he was defied and plans were made for Mrs. McAlister and Warden to go away together the day after they were found together here and the fatal stabbing took place.

On another occasion Warden and Mrs. McAlister were found together at George's Mill Inn by McAlister and a plea was made to break off relations for their four months old son. Warden was "openly defiant" said Mr. Flanagan.

"She acknowledged her guilt," said Mr. Flanagan, and McAlister on September 19 took his 13-year-old sister back to South Carolina to her home because he was about to "break up his Highland Falls home." It was on September 23, only five days before the tragic affair here, that Warden and Mrs. McAlister were found at 9 o'clock in the morning at the Inn and "for five days McAlister was unable to eat or sleep" and sought advice of the court to see his child was properly taken care of.

Mr. Flanagan said he believed a jury would have acquitted McAlister and he cited a long list of witnesses whom he would have sworn. Had McAlister come to Kingston to do bodily harm to Warden, it would have been easy to have brought along a very deadly weapon from those which McAlister had under his charge at West Point, said Flanagan. He maintained McAlister never had any idea of killing Warden. He asked that McAlister be paroled and promised that McAlister would never interfere or associate in any way again with Mrs. McAlister.

District Attorney's Statement

District Attorney Bruhn filed a statement of reason for accepting a manslaughter plea instead of going to trial on the murder, first degree, indictment handed down by the grand jury. Mr. Bruhn said there might be a "moral justification" for the act but there could be no "legal justification" for the killing of a human. He said the grand jury was justified in bringing the first degree murder charge under the facts before that body. However, he said that he felt that it would have been impossible to have secured a first degree murder conviction and he said he felt a great deal of consideration had been given McAlister in accepting the manslaughter plea.

Mr. Bruhn said he felt some punishment must be given but he felt perhaps not the maximum which is 10 to 20 years.

Judge Cashin filed 19 letters which had been sent asking leniency, one of them being from General Maxwell Taylor, superintendent of the United States Military Academy.

Pronounced Sentence

Before pronouncing the sentence Judge Cashin said McAlister had been beset by family difficulty but had "presumed to set himself up as judge and executioner" and had taken a life, a thing not permitted by any man. There probably were mitigating circumstances and the great mental strain under which McAlister was laboring probably led to the chain of events. Judge Cashin said he was taking all these things into consideration the facts of the case, please of those who knew McAlister in the army and his record as a civilian and soldier. He said he did not believe any jury would have convicted McAlister of first degree murder.

Barbers to Meet

All shop owners or master barbers of Kingston will meet at Rio's Hotel Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

In sentencing McAlister to prison Judge Cashin directed that the time served in jail be credited to his prison sentence.

New York, Feb. 18 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer invited union and employer representatives to meet today with a mediation committee to seek settlement of a strike of metal lathers that threatens idleness for other workers on large construction projects. The strike was called yesterday morning by Local 46 of the Metal Lathers Union (A.F.L.), whose 1,000 members install steel rods as cores around which concrete is poured and also metal laths as bases for plastering. A police survey last night indicated that only 44 men actually had left jobs, none of them in the Bronx or Richmond boroughs.

No General Rate Advance at Hotels

Some Inequities in Prices for Rooms Corrected

Managers of several of Kingston's leading hotels who were queried today as to what action they had taken in regard to raising of transient hotel room rates, disclosed no general rate advance as yet.

Manager R. R. Gross of the Governor Clinton Hotel said that, following the action of the Office of Price Administration in lifting ceilings on transient rooms some inequities in price ranges for rooms had been corrected by making slight raises in lower categories. There has been no general percentage increase, he said.

Mr. Gross said that in the case of permanent guests, particularly those with the hotel since control was established in 1942, these rates still are frozen. In addition the Governor Clinton has quite a number of guests who come to the hotel in the fall and remain until spring. In any event there would be no advance in charges to such guests until the time when they normally would leave in the spring, he said.

At the Stuyvesant Manager F. T. Eisler said that he had made no changes as yet. In some cases, he said, rooms had been underpriced and he expected that later he might make some changes to correct this situation.

John J. Egan of the Kirkland Hotel said that he had not made any changes yet in rate and was not decided as to just what action he would take. Mr. Egan added that rates which have maintained during recent years were entirely too low to permit the hotel keeper to "make any money."
